

Amicas Pizza Supports Friday Enrichment Program

Salida, CO – Amicas Pizza will be donating five percent of their sales every Sunday in November 2014, to the Friday Enrichment Program. This donation will go towards programing, scholarships, and supplies. Amicas Pizza has been doing Sunday sales donations to local organizations for the past 2 years. They have donated over $10,000.00 to the local community, as a way of giving back. Michael McGovern, general manger of Amicas stated, “We do this because we are so fortunate to have a community that supports us, that we feel it is important to give back. Children and families are very important to us. Over the past seven years there have been 30+ babies born into Amicas employee families. We have over 30 kids in the Salida School system currently and see first hand the need for support and participation in helping programs like this.”

The Friday Enrichment Program is in its second year, brought to you by proud sponsors, High Country Bank and the City of Salida Recreation Department. It is the mission of the Friday Enrichment Program to be a hub of information about Friday activities, as well as a network to connect people who wish to offer programming with those who have the resources to help. They actively distribute information on Friday Enrichment opportunities for school-aged children through websites, email announcements, school Facebook pages, news and radio announcements and through local organization newsletters and announcements.
